Power backup operation

When a power failure occurs, the charged handset temporarily supplies power to the base unit (power backup mode). This allows you to make and receive calls using a handset during a power failure. The base unit will not perform any other functions. However, some functions such as Call Display and phonebook are available only when using a handset other than the handset supplying power to the base unit. You can program "Power failure" and the default setting is "Auto" (page 32).

Important:

● If a handset is not placed on the base unit when a power failure occurs, "Base no power Press OFF" is displayed. After pressing [OFF] on the handset, place it on the base unit to start power backup mode.

● Power backup mode will not work if the battery level of the power supplying handset is 🔲 or 🔲.

● Do not lift the power supplying handset from the base unit during power backup mode.

Panasonic Ni-MH battery performance (supplied batteries) during power backup mode

When the batteries are fully charged, operating time of the handset in power backup mode varies depending on usage.

– Continuous use of the handset in power backup mode: 1.5 hours max.

– Continuous use of the handset other than a handset in power backup mode: 2 hours max.

– Not in use in power backup mode: 2 hours max.

Using the 【CALL BLOCK】 button

You can press the [CALL BLOCK] button in the following situations to disconnect the current call and add a phone number to the call block list:
– when an incoming call is being received
– when an incoming call is being recorded by the answering system
– when talking on an outside call

Once a phone number has been added to the call block list, the unit will block calls from that phone number in the future.

Handset / Base unit

2 Confirm the call block number and press [YES].
● The call block number is stored in the call block list, "Caller blocked" is displayed, and then the call is disconnected.

Note:
● If the call has no phone number, the call is blocked but it is not stored in the call block list.
● The call block feature is not available for intercom calls or calls received by Call Waiting.
● Blocked calls are logged in the caller list.

Storing unwanted callers

The unit can block calls by storing the desired items in the call block list beforehand (Call Display subscribers only).
– "Block a single number"[*1]/"Block a single #"[*2]: The unit blocks calls from specific phone numbers stored in the call block list.
– "Block range of numbers"[*1]/"Block range of #"[*2]: The unit blocks calls that begin with a number stored in the call block list, such as a toll-free phone number prefix or certain area codes.

– "Block unknown CID"[*1]/"Block unknown"[*2]: The unit blocks calls that have no phone number.
*1 Handset
*2 Base unit

Single phone numbers and ranges of numbers can be stored in the call block list up to 250 items in total.

Blocking unwanted callers:

When a call is received, the unit rings briefly[*1] while caller information is being received.
If the caller's phone number matches an entry in the call block list, the unit emits no sound to the caller, and disconnects the call.
*1 If you do not want this one ring to sound, select "No" in "Setting not to ring once for blocked call" (page 22).

Storing a single phone number

Important:

● We recommend storing 10 digits (including the area code). If only 7 digits are stored, all numbers that have the same last 7 digits will be blocked.

Baby monitor

This feature allows you to listen in on a room where another handset is located, allowing you to easily monitor from different areas of the house or place. The monitored handset (placed in a baby's room, for example) will automatically call the monitoring handset, base unit, or the phone number stored when it detects sound.

Important:
● You should perform a test run of the baby monitor procedure to ensure that the baby monitor feature is set correctly. For example, test its sensitivity. Check the connection if you are diverting the baby monitor to an outside line.
● This feature should not be used as a substitute for a medical or caregiver's supervision. It is the caregiver's responsibility to stay close enough to handle any eventuality.

Note:
● If the unit is connected to a PBX system, you cannot set the baby monitor.
● During the monitoring mode, battery consumption is faster than usual. We recommend leaving the monitored handset on the base unit or charger.
● The monitored handset never rings while it is being monitored. If the base unit is placed near the monitored handset, we recommend turning off the base unit ringer volume (page 33).

For landline voicemail service subscribers

If you subscribe to a flat-rate service package that includes Call Display, Call Waiting, voicemail, and unlimited local/regional/long distance calls, please note the following:
● To use the voicemail service provided by your phone service provider rather than the unit's answering system, turn off the answering system (page 43).
● To use this unit's answering system rather than the voicemail service provided by your phone service provider, please contact your phone service provider to deactivate your voicemail service.
If your phone service provider cannot do this:
– Set this unit's "Ring count" setting so that this unit's answering system answers calls before the voicemail service of your phone service provider does. It is necessary to check the number of rings required to activate the voicemail service provided by your phone service provider before changing this setting.

Voicemail service

Voicemail is an automatic answering service offered by your phone service provider. After you subscribe to this service, your phone service provider's voicemail system answers calls for you when you are unavailable to answer the phone or when your line is busy. Messages are recorded by your phone service provider, not your telephone. Please contact your phone service provider for details of this service.

Important:

● To use the voicemail service provided by your phone service provider rather than the unit's answering system, turn off the answering system (page 43). For details, see page 48.

Voicemail (VM) tone detection

Soon after you hang up a call or after the phone stops ringing, your unit checks the phone line to see if new voicemail messages have been recorded.

– You do not subscribe to voicemail service.
– Your phone service provider does not send voicemail tones.
– Your phone is connected to a PBX.

If you are not sure which setting is required, contact your phone service provider.
